The Report

The Gentlemen of the Cincinnati and Surrounding Areas Curry Club (CASACC) began the evening at Anderson Tap House. Being a few spots down from the venue, this Anderson gem was perfect during a picturesque sunny late summer Thursday afternoon. Though the service was a bit lacking, the group was able to imbibe with a few pints.

The group arrived promptly at 6pm to a lovely server who recognized us and gave us preferential seating in the window for passersby to admire our cuisines. Complementary pompadoms were offered without anyone asking which was the start to a truly amazing dinner. The food was out of this world, from tender chicken to perfectly seasoned lamb. Spice levels were appreciated by the club (a rare feat!). Even the process of cashing out was smooth, with a hand held checkout making the process convenient and smooth. This experience was one that proved you don't have to make a trip up north to get some great Indian food!
